Don't Get Burned on OSHA Compliance!

According to OSHA, workplace fires and explosions kill 200 and injure more than 5,000 workers each year. They cost businesses more than $2.3 billion in property damage. Don't add to these statistics -- get the facts on OSHA's Fire Protection standards.

The National Safety Council's Fire Protection Compliance Training Seminar will show you how to reduce your risks.

The four-hour seminar covers:

- Details of OSHA's 1910 Subpart L (1910.155 through 1910.165)
- Basic precautions for preventing fires and protecting workers
- The right equipment and protective wear for fighting fires
- General requirements for automatic sprinkler systems and fixed fire extinguishing systems
- How to install and maintain fire detection and alarm systems

When you complete the seminar, you'll be able to:

- Comply with 11 important OSHA standards
- Communicate proper fire prevention and protection procedures to your employees
- Establish a fire brigade to protect your facility and employees
- Understand the different types of fire extinguishers and identify which type(s) you need in your workplace
- Avoid injuries, property damage, and financial loss from workplace fires
